Context

Bihar is one of the most bountiful states of India in terms of its geographical location, and natural and human resources. Once a centre of political, intellectual, cultural and literary excellence, the state has contributed significantly to nation building. While Bihar played an important role in India's freedom movement, its economy and society suffered considerably during the colonial period. In the post-Independence period, notwithstanding achievements in several fields, its status vis-a-vis other states has deteriorated and it is now amongst the most economically backward states of India. Every year people migrate in large numbers, both within the country as well as abroad, in search of better education and livelihood. The bifurcation of the state has also changed the parameters of development, particularly in terms of resource endowments.

Of late, there has been a concerted effort to improve the overall development climate of the state, once again opening up the potential for socio-economic and human development. There are a host of new policy initiatives in various spheres--physical infrastructure, industrial development, education, health and tourism--that have already begun to bear fruit. However, the state still faces enormous economic, institutional and social challenges that need to be overcome to pursue an effective development strategy.

As a response to this challenge, the Institute for Human Development (IHD), New Delhi and Bihar Times, Patna are organising a Global Meet for a Resurgent Bihar in Patna from 19 to 21 January, 2007. The Government of Bihar is actively collaborating in the organisation of this event. The Meet shall enable development stakeholders (public as well as private) to appreciate the situation and forge partnerships for undertaking various initiatives in Bihar's development.

More than 500 eminent persons from across the world, belonging to various fields and concerned with the development of Bihar, are expected to participate in the Meet. It will be funded through registration fee, individual contributions and sponsorship from the government and concerned organisations.

The proceedings of the Meet will be widely disseminated through the print and the electronic media. A network of stakeholders would be formed and a liaison mechanism created through which inputs from the Meet would be utilised in future. Efforts will also be made to organise such events at the regional and sub-regional levels.

Objectives

The key objectives of the Meet are

- ▶ To bring together leaders of industry and trade, policy makers, scholars, development practitioners and activists, in exploring opportunities and forging partnerships;
- ▶ To create networks and liaisons between the people of Bihar and those outside so as to explore avenues of investment in different sectors;
- ▶ To deliberate on ideas that contribute towards cultural and educational resurgence of the state; and
- ▶ To enable Bihar to acquire a positive brand image that can be helpful in forging links with the outside world.

Themes

The Meet would focus on

- ▶ Strengthening governance and delivery mechanisms of various institutions in the state;
- ▶ Creating a social and political structure conducive for development;
- ▶ Developing education, skill and training systems; and
- ▶ Boosting investment opportunities in different areas.

Papers

Background papers on the above themes are being prepared which will be presented and circulated in the Meet. Focused papers, not exceeding fifteen hundred words, are welcome. These will be circulated and discussed in various parallel sessions at the Meet. In addition, there will be panels and lectures by specialists in diverse fields. The Government of Bihar will also organize an interactive session with potential investors in which senior decision-makers of the state will participate.

Venue

The Global Meet for a Resurgent Bihar will be held at:

Hotel Maurya, South-West Gandhi Maidan, Patna. Phone: (0612) 2203040-59

The Hotel is centrally located and offers conference facilities of international standards with an ambience that is widely appreciated.
